

Performance Management Policy

Nexus Technologies, Inc.
Effective Date: January 1, 2026

1. Overview

Nexus Technologies uses a structured performance management cycle to align goals, provide feedback, and support career development.

2. Annual Review Cycle

- Goal setting: January 15 deadline for annual objectives.
- Mid-year check-in: July 1–July 31.
- Annual review: November 1–December 15.
- Calibration sessions occur at the department level before final ratings are released.

3. Rating Scale

- 5 — Exceptional: consistently exceeds expectations.
- 4 — Exceeds: frequently exceeds expectations.
- 3 — Meets: reliably achieves expectations (target distribution).
- 2 — Developing: inconsistent performance with improvement plan.
- 1 — Unsatisfactory: fails to meet expectations; PIP required.

4. Performance Improvement Plans (PIPs)

A PIP lasts 60 days with documented milestones. Failure to meet PIP goals may result in role change or termination.

5. Promotions and Compensation

Merit increases are effective April 1 and tied to review ratings, budget, and market data. Promotion decisions require skip-level manager approval.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and

HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR

Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR

within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and

HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on 360 feedback: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on goal alignment: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on coaching conversations: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on talent reviews: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

Additional guidance on documentation standards: Employees should consult their manager and HR Business Partner when questions arise. This section reinforces consistent application of company standards, documentation requirements, and escalation paths. Managers are responsible for fair enforcement, timely communication, and referring complex situations to HR within one business day.

